This is the personal and business Website of Stephen Wiley.

- things If you're from the robotics club or a LAN party and need to get something off my laptop, this is where you need to go.
  - Hire me if you need stuff hacked together. Or re-done after being hacked together the first time.

In the past I've neglected to publish things I wrote (especially source code) and so most of it I've lost. Some of the interesting things I'm currently working on or have written since ~fall 2014 that I am legally allowed to publish are available at github.com

Someone from HackerNews asked if I'd link their arithmetic practice site for kids and I think it looks interesting.
